Policy Statement

Kaplan will ensure that support is available to students to assist them with successfully completing their units and that students are made aware of these support services throughout their study.

Students At Risk of Not Successfully Completing Subjects

Kaplan will undertake the following in order to identify students who are at risk of not successfully completing their units of study:

Intervention Strategies

Kaplan aims to keep attrition at a minimum in all its programs. It is aware that attrition may be potentially high in certain cohorts, including students in their first year of study in higher education, adult learners who have not attended a higher education program before or for some time, students who are studying in a language other than their first language and students who are granted recognition of prior learning before commencing a program, students with significant family responsibilities and/or financial difficulties, etc. The higher the number of these categories that a student falls into, the greater is the risk of attrition. Accordingly, Kaplan will put in place preventative actions to address these risks so that students are, as much as possible, nurtured so that their chances of becoming 'at risk' are lessened. Therefore, students will:

- be given sufficient information about programs allowing well informed course choices by students.
- be given individual attention and the timely tracking of academic progress.
- be identified and followed up by student support staff where they are not involved, engaged or committed to their studies.
- be given additional support when they are experiencing difficulties in their studies because of poor academic performance or some other cause.
- where necessary, be offered additional English language instruction, such as one-on-one consultations with a Student Advisor or enrolment in a subject that specialises in communication skills.
- be identified by the General Manager Teaching and Learning or delegate and followed up on, where results, or lecturer or support staff reports indicate that students are experiencing difficulties in their studies.
- be informed of relevant program details including withdrawal dates for subjects or programs.
- be given the opportunity to engage in subjects that include training on relevant technologies, research methods and study skills so as to enhance their likelihood of success; and
- have appropriately qualified and experienced academic staff who are aware that they may have students who may be 'at risk' of making unsatisfactory academic progress.

Intervention strategies used to address individual academic progress matters will be documented and may include:

- revising enrolment patterns, study loads or the course of enrolment.
- minimum attendance requirements
- regular meetings with an identified Kaplan staff member to address key issues.
- English language support at Kaplan (where available or students will be directed to appropriate services)
- mandatory study skills coaching and/or training.
- mandatory study plans
- academic counselling, referral to appropriate medical services and/or other appropriate support
- review of accommodation (Homestay) and other support systems, if applicable
- establishing a learning contract outlining specific activities that are to be completed by the student.
- approving leave or suspension of studies Kaplan will communicate with students identified as at risk to ensure they are aware of support services available to assist them in successfully completing their units of study.

Support Services Available to Students

Kaplan offers either directly or through a third-party numerous support options for students to assist in successful completion of their units of study, such as:

- a) Assessment guides
- b) Disability support
- c) Library services
- d) Student Wellbeing services
- e) Successful study strategies

Kaplan will publish this Support for Students policy as well as more information regarding support for students on its website and any other internal sites as deemed appropriate.
